SENIOR BACKEND DEVELOPER (F/M/X)

📍Vienna or Barcelona   📅 2021/2022   💼 Fulltime

We are looking for a Senior Backend Engineer (f/m/x) who has a strong drive for quality of his/her work, is eager to learn, and share knowledge within our team. The successful candidate will work on next generation AI-based services, joining an international product development team.

Your Tasks

- Develop dockerized web services in Python and TypeScript
- Collaborate with architects on our evolutionary architectures
- Drive and own feature implementation for in-time delivery
- Deliver well-tested web API's using modern best practices

Your Profile

- At least 3 years' experience delivering backend applications and services (e.g., RESTful APIs)
- Experience with Python or Node.js, or motivation to learn Python Solid understanding of software design for distributed systems
- Good communication skills in English (optional: Spanish, German)

Our Offer

- The opportunity to work on exciting AI-related projects and products
- A career path to develop your skills and expertise
- An international team with a wide range of expertise
- Flexible working hours, home office and remote working
- The stability of a company with 20 years of experience
- Team activities, free snacks and drinks

About us

Partium offers an AI-driven mobile and stationary parts search & identification solutions within industrial and retail environments. The company was formed by three of the world's leading providers of image recognition and visual search technology: U.S. based Slyce, Spain-based Catchoom and Austria-based Humai.

Salary

We offer market conform salaries considering your qualification and your work experience as well as the responsibilities associated to your role – guidance range 40k-70k Euro gross/year.

How to apply

Please send your application to jobs@partium.io

If you have any questions, feel free to contact our

Recruiting Manager

Stephan Ganzinger

+43 660 9127 849